DO NOT REFUDIATE PLATFORM.

The Republicans of Orange county may, and probably do, prefer eventually some other state law to the present one; something that will not allow the establishment of the saloon anywhere within its borders; but they made no declaration to that effect this year and do not look to their senators and representatives to disobey the state declaration in favor of a longer trial of the principal of local option.—Randolph Herald and News.

The above statement from the Orange county contemporary, which is in a position to know the minds of its county readers pretty well, will set at rest any vaguely defined fears that Republicans throughout the state may have regarding Orange county's position regarding the license question. It has been stated again and again from Democratic sources, and echoed from some Republican quarters that Orange county had "bolted" the platform adopted by the state convention in June in the matter of giving the local option law a longer trial. It has been a favorite assertion from Democrats that at least the senators from that county would fight for the repeal of the law in the coming legislature. If the above paragraph from the Randolph Herald correctly states the position of the county convention—and we believe it does—then the powder back of the Democratic shot is withdrawn. Let it be known that Orange county Republicans do not repudiate the state platform.

Nearly every Republican journal in the state has taken what appears to The Times to be a broad view of the matter of publishing "Democratic gospel" as advertising matter, and will publish it, allowing their readers to formulate their own opinions, instead of driving it into them with a sledge hammer. The Bellows Falls Times, one of these papers, says that "If it has any Republican readers so knock-kneed that they cannot trust themselves to read a little Democratic argument they are advised to hold a hand over their eyes when they reach the column headed 'democratic,' and turn the page quickly," which is about right.

Montpelier hotels very much resemble some base ball pitchers. They are being given a fierce rapping. But unlike the pitcher they cannot easily be substituted.

The Londonderry Sifter consigns Bishop Potter and his like to the lower regions. Sifter John's clan would be few if he had his way.

And yet we don't expect Vermont to swing into the Democratic column.

Appendicitis Remedy.
German medical men are advocating a new remedy for appendicitis which will render unnecessary the use of the knife. The patient is simply made to crawl on all fours for twenty minutes four times daily.

ABOUT THE STATE.

Items of Interest Gleaned From Our Exchanges.

Health Officer E. B. Moore of Rutland received Wednesday afternoon from the state laboratory at Burlington reports of the analysis of some samples of city water which he sent there about two weeks ago. A sample taken from the main city reservoir showed traces of sewage bacteria and those taken from the Chittenden branch of East creek were contaminated with decayed vegetable substances. Some which were taken on the same stream in the vicinity of houses showed sewage contamination also. The water on the whole is called by the chemists "suspicious."

Ernest F. Doty, the well known Woodbury ball player, met with a distressing accident Monday. He was assisting in erecting a derrick at Woodbury Granite Co.'s quarry. Ernest was pouring the molten lead in a dowel hole to secure the pin, and was bending directly over the hole. A little water in the hole or the quick compression of the air blew the molten lead upwards, and he was struck in the eyes and forehead and considerably burned. A small piece of the lead has been removed from the right eyeball near the sight, and the eyes very badly swollen and inflamed. The left eye seems uninjured, but is yet a question whether he will lose the sight of the right eye or not.

August 3 Mrs. Anna Ranslow Allen of Swanton celebrated her 95th birthday at the home of her son, the Rev. E. J. Ranslow. A few old friends called to see her. Though blind for 20 years Mrs. Allen is in perfect health and in the good use of her faculties. She has been a kind of reference cyclopedia for the general catalogues of the U. V. M. and Middlebury colleges, giving account of graduates who went from these institutions in the dim past. Mrs. Allen is the daughter of the Rev. Simeon Parmelee, well known in Vermont, who lived to be over one hundred years old. Her grandfather had his health shattered in the ill-fated expedition of Arnold to Quebec, but he lived to be about 90 years old, and her great grandfather died at 90.

The Rev. William A. Davidson of Burlington, state missionary of the Vermont Baptist state convention, has recently made a strong appeal for more money to help evangelize the state. The Rev. Mr. Davidson declares that that the state convention is adding thirty-nine churches and helping support missionaries among the Italians, Swedes and French. Some of these churches will never become self-supporting. The Italian work at Barre and vicinity is hopeful and recently seven were baptized. The convention has a Swedish church in Barre with a membership of twenty-three. It also has a French missionary who is giving his time to the churches in the different parts of the state where the French are more thickly settled. He has been greatly prospered in his work and has made genuine converts in every place where he has thus labored. The convention is working for a fund of at least $200,000.

Prize Post Cards.

The Australian postmaster general recently invited competitive designs for pictorial post cards to be printed and issued by his department for use throughout the commonwealth. Premiums of $50, $25 and $15 respectively will be paid for three series of twelve designs each adjudged by the postmaster general to be first, second and third in order of merit in the case of each state. The designs will consist exclusively of Australian subjects.

Pleased Paderewski.

Paderewski stood festooned over the back of a carved oak chair at an evening reception with the purring of much femininity around him. One insignificant woman, after alienating all his friends by snatching a three minute talk with him, prepared to move away. "I beg that you will stay, madam," said Paderewski, with the melancholy of Poland's snows and his own personal ennui patent in his voice. "You are the only lady in the room tonight who has not asked me how I feel when I play."

Stained Table Linen.

Try glycerine for removing stains of tea and coffee from table linen. Procure it of good quality and with it rub the affected parts, afterward washing the linen in the ordinary way.

JINGLES AND JESTS.

Carefully Timed.

"Didn't you say there were no mosquitoes around this place?"
"Yes," answered Farmer Cornstossel, "and we never misrepresent. That advertisement was written last March."—Washington Star.

Help!

The scientists have found a worm. A very vicious fellow. Which makes the fierce mosquito squirm. And for assistance below. But when he has devoured that germ. What will protect us from the worm?—Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

A Strong Recommendation.

"You recommend this muddle, do you?"
"We certainly do. You try it once and you'll always stick to it."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Unsatisfied.

Oh, wealth is hard to understand. As has been said before. One gets a million dollars and. Instead of seeking comforts bland. Wants several millions more.—Washington Star.

A Foxy Hobo.

Mrs. Nix—I don't believe your story, sir!
Weary—I was afraid you wouldn't, ma'am, so I brought along my friend here, who's a notary public. For 25 cents he'll swear me, ma'am.—New York American.

The Victoria Cross.

It is illegal for a pawnbroker in Great Britain to accept the Victoria cross as a pledge under any circumstances.

The Frost Herald.

Oh, Miss Katydid, I wish you'd come along.
I'm weary of de locus, an' I'm hungry for yoh song.
I wants to hear you talkin' 'bout de sister dat got los'.

A-goin' north one August day a-lookin' foh de frost.
I wants to hear you plin' an' a-catin' of her name.
Cause I's pantin' an' I's platin' foh de good news jes' de same.
I'm weary of de mockin' birds an' whip-poorwill foh shoy.
I want to hear about dat frost in jes' a few weeks mo'.
